1) React JS is a popular Java Script library for building user interface. It is use for writing dynamic web application and website

2) NPM (node package manager) is a package for Java script it is use to install, update the package oh Java script

3) Node. Js & react. Js are both Java script languages

   The node. Js allow to run Java script code

   The react. Js is the front-end library for building user interface

4) CLI = command line interface it is a text-based user interface that allow to intract the program by text

5) Components are independen and reusable bit oh code. The serve the same purpose as Java script but return HTML

Component are of two type

class components

Function components